GREETING.

It is with a deep sense of feeling and gratitude that we extend a most cordial greeting and welcome to those of our friends who have favored us with their presence and patronage on this occasion of our Third Annual Games and Reception.

Athletics occupies an important place in the curriculum of the soldier, and once a year we hold this, a sort of Graduation Day, that we may show to those interested just what has been accomplished in a twelvemonth

We confess to being believers in the principle of a "sound mind in a sound body," and here to-night we are anxious to show an exemplification of it. There is no finer sight, in our opinion, than this struggle for the mastery amongst clean limbed young athletes, and this alone should be sufficient excuse for the holding of a set of games.

In the half of the programme devoted to the recreation of dancing we hope all present will enjoy themselves to the limit of their several abilities—without their kindly cooperation the games could not have been held—and we deeply appreciate their presence here to-night. Our thanks are also due to those who have assisted our advertising manager with their patronage. We do thank them and wish them every success.

To the young men who are with us this evening and who have not as yet become members of the National Militia, we extend a cordial invitation to join Company I. A large standing army is contrary to the genius and "raison d'etre" of a republic, hence our country must and does depend upon the citizen soldiery for defence in time of war. It therefore becomes the duty of all men fit for military service to prepare themselves to march under "Old Glory" if the necessity arises. In the National Guard there are many pleasant social features which should be an additional attraction to enlistment. Next year our organization will perform its bi-annual tour of camp duty, and we desire a number of recruits that we may make a strong showing at this approaching time.

Again thanking all who have contributed in making this evening a social and financial success, we beg to remain,

THE COMMITTEE.

MUSIC BY THE 47th REGIMENT BAND

Games Begin at 9 P. M. Sharp.

During the Quarantine Riots in 1892 a detachment of the 47th Regiment, including Company I, did duty at Fire Island, and again in 1895 the organization did duty during the great Trolley Strike in Brooklyn.

At the outbreak of the war with Spain, the 47th responded to President McKinley's first call for volunteers and proceeded to Camp Black on May 2d, 1898. It was mustered into the United States service May 24th. In June the regiment was ordered to Fort Adams, near Newport, R. I., and on October 10th, 1898, it embarked on the U. S. Transport "Manitoba" for Porto Rico. It arrived at Ponce, P. R., on October 15th, 1898, and went into camp about three miles back of the city on October 18th. During the first night in camp the sentries were shot at and they returned the fire. The long roll was sounded, the call to arms, and all fell in ranks, but were soon dismissed. On October 21st the command broke camp and re-embarked on the U. S. Transport "Chester" and the various companies were sent to different stations; Company I going to Abonita, a town near the Abonita Pass, the highest point on the island, near which the battle of that name was fought. To reach Abonita the company marched from San Juan, a distance of about fifty-six miles, in less than three days—this bearing eloquent testimony to the morale and discipline of the men. In March, 1899, the company marched to Guayama, and was again embarked on the U. S. Transport "Manitoba," or the "Logan," as she was now called, and returned with the regiment to Brooklyn and were mustered out of the United States service March 31st. The 47th is distinguished with the 12th and 71st as the only regiments in the National Guard of New York which have done duty on foreign soil. On leaving Porto Rico the regiment was officially praised for its excellence by Generals Henry and Grant, under whom it had served.

The 47th Regiment has always responded instantly to the calls to duty in the spirit of its motto: "Ducit Amor Patriae," and, with its companions in arms, was publicly thanked by the civil and military authorities for its promptness and excellent conduct in service.
